To the chief executive officer of the Company, project manager and HR manager

Aged 35, engineer graduated in civil engineering, I would like to exercise my skills in your company that offers me opportunities for promotion and development.

Over the years, I have had the opportunity to work on diverse construction projects especially in oil and gas field and have been responsible for supervising and managing civil and construction work to bring the projects to fruition successfully. My expertise lies in execution of detailed plans and critical path analysis, and I have had extensive experience in managing technical specifications particular to each engineering project I undertake.

One strong point that I rely on when undertaking a construction project, is the ability to work in accordance with project's feasibility. My knowledge of working within budgets and project resources helps me supervise work activities in a time and cost-effective manner, which I believe, is the essence of every project. Additionally, my aptitude in processing financial measurements for each individual project has been the secret of my success over the years, as my references will vouch.

My resume and credentials all speak for my suitability for this position. I would welcome the chance to meet you personally and provide further augmentation to my claims here.

Best regards,

HANIS IBRAHIM
